Scottish Regency flame mahogany bowfront sideboard - ref 2020

A fine Scottish Regency flame mahogany bowfront sideboard retaining excellent original colour and patina, constructed of choice timbers and veneers throughout. The bowfront shaped top with rear raised shelf, punctuated by the headers of four out-stepped pillars. Below a central concave frieze drawer fitted with brass ring pull handles, with another bow fronted drawer below with integrated pull and inset cock beading to either side, both in choice flame veneers. The central pair of drawers is flanked by a pair of outset spiral turned columns, which transition into ring turned and reeded tapering legs. These are flanked again by a full height cupboard door opening to reveal a shelf and internal drawer and a full height cellar drawer. These are again outflanked by outset columned legs.

A fabulous quality, substantial and original sideboard, with fine detailing throughout. This type of sideboard whilst of Gillows quality, when fitted with this rear raised flat shelf, indicates that it was most likely made in Scotland, possible by a top Edinburgh make of the likes of William Trotter.
