

A PAIR OF GEORGE III SHERATON PERIOD SATINWOOD & TULIPWOOD BANDED CARD TABLES - REF 2309

A fine pair of George III, Sheraton period, demi-lune, satinwood, tulipwood and ebony strung card tables, retaining fine colour and excellent patina.

The tops of demi-lune shape, with tulipwood cross-banding, strung with box and ebony around the periphery. Both rear legs swing out to support the opened top which has a green baize lined playing surface.

The frieze is divided into panels, again with tulipwood cross-banding and stringing around each, with a marquetry paterae to the top of each square section, box wood and ebony strung, tapering leg; which finally are tipped with ebony toes. A fabulous pair of classic Sheraton card tables.

Norman Adams was the son of a Bristol schoolmaster and antique dealer, and in 1928 opened his famous shop at 8 – 10 Hans Road, Knightsbridge, which only closed in 2009. He was known as an unrivalled supplier of what is possibly the finest period of English furniture. His 'eye' for quality was unerring, and many of the very finest pieces from the Chippendale, Sheraton and Hepplewhite eras passed through his hands.
